First Athens World Poetry Festival

The first Athens World Poetry Festival will run from September 23 to 29 in several venues throughout Athens. The www.ironikopoulou.gr website, set up last year, is organizing an international poetry festival, highlighting a common field of creativity in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America. Sixty-two internationally renowned poets from 22 countries will participate in a festival that celebrates that poetry is needed in our times.

In fact, it reminds us that "international poetry was written during 1850s and read in isolated houses. It was during wartimes that Solinas wrote the www.ironikopoulou.gr and www.ironikopoulou.gr in the field, with clues to the agricultural sector and references to the country's trials and disasters.

Geographically compact, but with a vast historical depth, Greece has been and remains a land of poets. On Europe's road during the day and on its own's shadow at night, Greece continues to create."
